

For Immediate Release
7/31/08

Announcing the Release of Ruby Robberies by Nashville Author, WC Hartline

“Who is HC?” Readers can expect to be asking this question often while trying to decode the mystery laden Ruby Robberies. Local author, WC Hartline, known to readers for his first book Death by Diamonds and to the clientele of Draper Jewelry, finally unveils the second title in his mystery series. The book offers readers an escape to an entertaining, fast paced world of danger and romance. “Boz” (the book’s main character) faces mounting odds, risking everything to identify HC and bring down his criminal organization before further mayhem ensues on a global scale.

The imminent release of the thrilling, action-adventure novel, Ruby Robberies will no doubt hit a note amongst caper fans. The classic mystery is the second in the Gem Team Series from this locally renowned author and long-time Draper Jewelry professional, WC Hartline.

A rash of daring robberies that spans the globe calls for the expertise of the special Gem Team unit. Boz suspects the involvement of their nemesis, HC, the unidentified head of an international terrorist ring funded by precious stone thievery. Boz’s team comes under direct attack and Boz descends further into a perilous maze of events forcing him to face the abhorrent possibility that HC has a mole in the Company... or worse. Everything from car chases through London to exploding arteries during interrogations in DC, along with the blossoming romance between Boz and the red headed beauty, Kay Daniels makes WC Hartline’s second title, Ruby Robberies, an entertaining absolute must-read!

Now, with more of the story to unfold in the series, special agent Robert Bozemen (Boz) sets out to hunt a ruthless assassin who threatens all he holds dear. Now it’s personal!

~ Author Bio ~

WC Hartline’s newest work, Ruby Robberies, is the second in the series, detailing lead character Robert Bozeman’s journey into the world of black market “stones” and international crime. Hartline has again tapped into his knowledge of jewelry and his military experience to create a world of spies, gem trafficking and double agents in this classic (young reader-friendly) mystery that will have everyone guessing.

Hartline’s writings are somewhat autobiographical. “There are pieces of my experiences in the book, but I’d like it to remain speculative. I sought to marry my knowledge of the precious stone trade with my understanding of the Intelligence arm of the military.”

Hartline served eight years in the Signal Corps. After serving on active duty, he worked with the National Guard receiving several Army Commendation Medals for his performance. Along the way, he earned his Desert Storm Ribbon. It was during this time that he married and began working in his wife’s family jewelry business, Draper Jewelry Company, a Nashville tradition.

*Please contact Jady Stevens at Eveready Press for interviews, advance review copies, or Ruby Robberies electronic images. Email: jadynstevens@gmail.com, (615)327-9106. All the above information is free for use and available for publication.

EVEREADY PRESS

1817 Broadway Nashville, TN 37203 phone: (615)327-9106 fax: (615)327-9177 eveready-usa.com